Thomson Reuters Introduces Industry's First Integrated GRC Workflow and Regulatory Content Solution

Integration of Paisley Enterprise GRC and Checkpoint platforms provides complete solution for internal audit, risk management, and compliance professionals

New York, N.Y., June 16, 2009 – Thomson Reuters, the world's leading source of intelligent information for businesses and professionals, has released the industry's first integrated governance, risk management, and compliance (GRC) workflow and regulatory content solution.

This new, comprehensive solution is the result of the integration of Paisley GRC software with Checkpoint. Paisley Enterprise GRC is compliance workflow software for internal audit, financial controls, risk management, and regulatory compliance; and Checkpoint is the industry-leading online platform for tax & accounting research, expert guidance, and practice development tools. Both Paisley GRC and Checkpoint are products of Thomson Reuters.

The union of these two products enables multinational corporations, large accounting firms, consulting firms, and governmental agencies to effectively manage financial controls, regulatory compliance, internal audits, and enterprise risk. Through this integration, users of the Paisley GRC solutions will have easy access to regulatory news, information, online training, checklists, and how-to guides in the form of in-context information and tools.

"The challenging regulatory climate requires business leaders to invest in new solutions to maximize their company's compliance," said Mark Schlageter, president of Research & Guidance for the Tax & Accounting business of Thomson Reuters. "By providing deep integration between Paisley's GRC software and Checkpoint, our clients will experience a real breakthrough in efficiency and productivity through a more streamlined, holistic GRC management approach."

"We're excited to now offer our customers the industry's best, most trusted content through integration with Checkpoint," said Tim Welu, senior vice president and general manager of Paisley at Thomson Reuters. "Information, analyses, news, and tools developed by the tax and accounting
